Brought To You By Rabbi Ben: Making Torah at TBI

By: Rabbi Benjamin Chaidell

On the evening of June 11, we will celebrate God giving us the Torah at Mount Sinai during the holiday of Shavuot.

Receiving the Torah is no passive act. Perhaps that is why the 16th century mystics established a tradition to stay up all night the eve of Shavuot to eagerly receive the Torah by studying its words. This became known as a tikkun, or correction, for the Jewish people sleeping the night God delivered to us the Torah.

Then, as now, we learned that we cannot sleep on the job of receiving Torah. It is an active act to absorb the teachings of God and our people into our lives. Each of us is given the responsibility and the privilege, as Dr. Arnold Eisen writes, to “take hold of Torah,” symbolized by holding the roller of the Torah scroll when we recite the Torah blessings. The Torah belongs to all of us, and we must work to make it our own.

One of the things I love most about TBI is how active and participatory our community is in so many ways, including and especially in our study of Torah. I love that almost every time we read Torah, someone asks a question that challenges my understanding of the text. This active wrestling follows Jewish tradition to derash (seek out) new meanings in the Torah that speak to the ever-relevant power of Torah for our lives.

Presidents Message

By: Linda Ungerleider

The meaning of the word ruach, to me, has always meant feeling together with others. In fact, the word has several meanings, “wind,” “breath,” or “spirit”. I would like to focus on spirit. Our TBI community has shown the spirit to welcome others, engage in learning, try new programs and grow together. Todah rabah to each and every one of you for your contribution(s).

To continue this “ruach”, I am asking everyone to please attend our hybrid Annual Meeting on Sunday, June 23 to recognize our accomplishments and to show you how your continued spirit can propel us into the future. Listen to some new ideas brought forth by you, our members. Be a part of our growth. I am looking forward to paving the way for another amazing year!

I am excited to join you to learn new meanings of Torah at our tikkun on Tuesday evening June 11 at 7 PM. We will enjoy three perspectives on the Jewish people's story by Tzvi, Diana, and Zach, who will each illustrate how Torah carries through different generations of Jewish community.

Throughout this month there will be opportunities to derash new meanings on our Torah and our story. Martha will lead our next Yiddish story discussion on June 15, and Diana our portraits program on June 29. Howard will spearhead our mental health panel on June 9, which will highlight the Torah's role in wellness. On June 16 we will share our Torah of inclusion at Waltham Pride. And lastly, on June 23 at our annual meeting, we will reflect on this year and look ahead to the next year in our community. We are part of the unfolding story of Torah in the world.

I am excited to join with you to actively receive the Torah's message for us today and to contribute TBI's unique perspective to the Torah of our people!

Chag Sameach!

Portraits - Bruce Trager

Interview transcribed by Sarah Trager

Diana interviewed Bruce Trager on May 11 as part of her community series to learn more about TBI's members. Below is a recap of Bruce's interview.

Bruce was born at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, MA and spent most of his childhood living in a three-decker in Dorchester: On the top floor lived his maternal grandparents who arrived from Europe (Austrian territory in what is now modern-day Ukraine) in 1906. Bruce lived with his parents and older brother in the middle apartment, and his maternal aunt and uncle lived together on the first floor.

His earliest memories are of his grandfather taking him for walks around the neighborhood in his carriage. Quality time with family was a big part of his upbringing as his mother was the youngest of 6 children and his father was the youngest of 5. There were always dinners and gatherings with cousins and extended family. Passover seders were particularly memorable for him as his parents would host a big crowd and his grandfather would lead the service. He still uses his grandfather's haggadah at his own seders today.

Early Jewish education has been a formative element of shaping his Jewish practice. Starting at the age of 7, Bruce attended Hebrew school 5 days/week (Sunday-Thursday) at his family's Conservative synagogue. He also learned to leyn there as they hosted children's services where the boys would lead the kids in prayer each Shabbat. In high school, he attended Prozdor at Hebrew College. He did not return to his Jewish studies until his early 30s when he began studying Talmud with Rabbi Posner in a weekly study group. He has been involved in this group for 30+ years.

Professionally, Bruce pursued a career in criminal justice which began during his undergraduate studies at UMass Amherst. There, he studied sociology with a focus in criminology and later pursued two graduate degrees: an MA in Criminology and Police Administration at Northeastern and a JD from Suffolk University. Before his 30+ year career working as a prosecutor for the Attorney General's Office for the Commonwealth of MA, Bruce conducted various research studies on law enforcement and criminology, spent some time in Kansas as a regional criminal justice planner, and worked with at risk youth across Massachusetts. After 32 years prosecuting criminal labor cases, Bruce retired in 2020.

In addition to pursuing a professional career, Bruce also raised a family in Waltham with his wife, Jill. Together, they have two daughters, Sarah and Shoshana. Both attended Jewish Day School. When asked what he is most proud of in his life, Bruce shared, "my children".

Before joining TBI, Bruce and his wife, Jill were members of the Tremont Street Shul. Despite living in Waltham, they attended weekly Shabbat services and holiday services there for several decades while their two daughters were growing up. Both girls had their bat mitzvahs at Tremont Street Shul. Bruce started attending TBI in 1995 because he was looking for a daily minyan to say kaddish for his dad. He has since become more active in TBI: serving on the board, leading the search committee for a new rabbi, supporting different parts of the shabbat service, etc. The TBI community is grateful for Bruce's many contributions. As one congregant shared at the interview, "Bruce is a pillar of our community and I so appreciate the man who can do anything here".

TBI Bookshelf

By Marilyn Racette

This month I want to offer thanks to TBI member Carol Snyder Halberstadt for contributing a volume of her poetry to the TBI library, Gathering Words: Leaves from a Tree of Life. Carol is a truly gifted poet. Her work, rooted in natural images, steeped in our Judaic heritage, family, and our human condition, is rich with resilience, hope, and endurance. Carol has also created cover art and woodcut illustrations for this volume. I hope you will make some time to read at least a few of her poems when you come to temple and see her book displayed. I think it will be time well spent.
